PREFACE.

This little book makes no pretention to literary merit. Indeed I fear it will not require a critic of much acuteness or experience to detect within its pages many defects of style and diction. I trust, however, that no reader will feel disposed to censure me for any literary blemishes he may discover, when he remembers that in my youth children lacked the advantages available to-day through our common school system, and that, as a rule, the schools of my boyhood's time were in charge of teachers who, in country districts at least, were paid the most meagre pittance for salary, and were compelled to "board round," living, a week or so in turn, with each family sending pupils to the school. I have to confess, regretfully, that the small scholastic knowledge I possess, is limited to the scanty store I was able to acquire during some three winters' attendance at one of these old-time schools, supplemented by such stray gleanings as I found opportunity to make during a life of almost constant business activity. I would therefore have been glad had some hand, better qualified than mine, assumed the task I have aimed to accomplish in writing this book. I have undertaken the work myself only after having failed to induce others to perform it.

I believe that most people, especially in later life, are interested in their family history, and anxious to learn as much as possible in regard to their ancestral tree. At the same time I have to regret, that it was not till within the last few years, that I began fully to realize the value of this class of information. Had I been earlier impressed with its importance, I could, I feel sure, have gathered, from lips now sealed in death, much matter in regard to our family history, which is now unattainable because no one took timely thought to gather and preserve it. Taught by this experience, I would urge every young man, whose eyes may light on these pages, to let slip no opportunity to search out and preserve in writing all available information as to his ancestry and family history, which, existing only in the memories of persons living, is liable at any time to be forgotten, or forever buried in the grave.

I am greatly indebted for much valuable assistance in this work to the Reverend William White Hance, an Episcopal clergyman residing in Eatontown, New Jersey, who is a descendant of Thomas White, of Deal, Kent County, England (1670), and who has expended much time and skill in researches into the White family history. I became acquainted with the Rev. Mr. White through my daughter, Mrs. Morris, then residing in Philadelphia, and to her also I am indebted for much valuable assistance, which she rendered me in searching old records and monuments in New Jersey and New York States.

It is my intention to distribute copies of this book among the descendants of William White, the Loyalist, and I will gladly, upon application made to me, give a copy to any such descendant to whom, or to whose immediate family, a copy shall not, at the time of application, have been already sent.

While, as I have already intimated, the work of collecting and verifying the information contained in this little volume proved much greater than I anticipated in undertaking the work, it has afforded pleasant occupation for many leisure hours during the closing years of a life which God has been mercifully pleased to extend long beyond the Scriptural span of three score years and ten.

May I add that much of the pleasure I have had in preparing this work has arisen from the hope I entertain, that the perusal of these pages may now and again help to recall or awaken in the minds of those who read them, kindly thoughts of the writer, when the hand that now pens this is at rest forever.

EXPLANATORY.

In explanation of the arrangement adopted, in the following pages, it may be well to point out that the first five generations, from and including that of Thomas White, who came from Deal in 1783, are dealt with in one section of the book, covering its first nine pages. The figures in brackets, following a name in this section, indicate the number of the generation of the person named, counting downward from said Thomas White, who, for the purposes of this arrangement, is classed as of the first generation.

From the sixth generation downward, the number of descendants seemed to require that each generation should be classed by itself.

The marginal figures in English numerals, when found opposite, and to the left of, the name of any person, indicate that the names of the descendants of such person will be found, under the like number which appears as a heading in heavier type at a later page of the book.

For example on page 15 the marginal number 28 appears opposite the name of William Henry White. On page 29, under the heading of the same number, 28, will be found a continuation of the family history of said William White. By this system it is easily possible to trace the lineage of any person upwards or downwards.

VINCENT AND MARY WHITE AND THEIR CHILDREN.

HISTORY

WHITE FAMILY.

It is the aim of this book to furnish a record of the genealogy of that branch of the White family which traces its descent through William White and Deborah Tilton White, who came to the Province of New Brunswick with other Loyalists in 1783.

The family lineage is herein traced back to 1670. In that year Thomas White, carpenter, came to America from Deal, Kent County, England. In 1675 he bought land in Monmouth County, New Jersey (now United States of America) from Thomas Potter and Judah Allen.* He died in 1683 or 1684, leaving two sons, Samuel and Peter. He also, possibly, had a third son, William, for the County records show that one William White was a grand juror in 1678, and a marriage license was issued, August 23rd, 1669, for the marriage of William White and Mary Katherine Dower.

Peter White (2) is the ancestor of William White, the Loyalist. His brother, Samuel, patented land in Shrewsbury by the sea, where the Tucker family, who also came from Deal, England, had land. The site of this land is now called Deal, New Jersey. Peter White (2) owned land in what is still known as Shrewsbury, situated some fifteen miles from Deal, N. J. This land, or part of it, was conveyed to him by deed from Sarah Parker, a widow, and her sons, George and William, May 10th, 1668.

Although Samuel (2) is not in the line of descent which this book is designed to record, it may be of interest to mention that he died in 1697, leaving three sons. Thomas, his eldest son, was twice married, but the writer has not been able to ascertain either the name or date of death of his first wife; the name of his second wife was Elizabeth Cole; he died in 1712. The second son, Samuel, married Elizabeth Wardell; he died, leaving a will which is recorded in New Jersey Archives, page 288. The third son, Amos, married December 2nd, 1708, Hannah Mills, and died in 1729 or 1730.

Peter White (2) died in 1697. His will bears date, March 20th, 1697, and was probated June 10th, 1697.* His wife's name was Mary, and by her he had ten children, three sons and seven daughters. Peter (3), probably his eldest son, was born September 17th, 1685; he married Abigail Lippincott, who was the daughter of Remembrance and Margaret (Barbour) Lippincott. She was born September 17th, 1625, and was alive October 19th, 1734. Peter White (3) died in 1733; his will bears date February 14th, 1733, and was proved May 2nd, 1733, and is recorded at Trenton in Book B, folio 478. Robert, another son, married Margaret Hartshorne, and died May 10th, 1747. Thomas, the only other son, died in 1747; his wife's name was Christian. Mary, one of Peter's (2) several daughters, was born January 19th, 1673, married Richard Lippincott, October 12th, 1695, and died May 12th, 1723. Ann, another daughter, was twice married, first to Mr. Sutton, and secondly to J————— Cheshire, February 14th, 1692. From the record of this second marriage it appears that the following persons were witnesses to the ceremony: Peter White and Mary, his wife, father and mother of the bride, John Wortley, Samuel White, Thomas White, Peter Tilton, Margaret Lippincott, Elizabeth White, junior, Sarah Reape, Jane White, Mary White, junior, and Elizabeth White. A third daughter, Elizabeth, was born January 28th, 1680, and married Joseph Lippincott, August 17th, 1701. Sarah was the name of a fourth daughter, but the writer has been unable to glean any information concerning her beyond her name. Another daughter, named Jane, married Thomas Garwood, July 28th, 1673. There were two other daughters referred to, but not named in their father's will; they probably died young.

PETER WHITE (3).

The children of Peter White (3) and Abigail (Lippincott) White are as follows: Britton, born November 17, 1712, and married October 19, 1754, to Dinah Corliss; Benjamin, who married Mary Morris; Peter (4), who married Huldy Tabor, January 22, 1747; Ruth, who married Joshua Bund, or Bond; Sarah, born

May 21, 1715, and married October 22, 1737, to Jacob Corliss; Hannah, who married Job Cook, a son of Ebenezer and Mary (Patterson) Cook; Dorothy, who married Amos Chandler, April 30, 1739; and Elizabeth and Abigail.

PETER WHITE (4).

The children of Peter White (4) and Huldah (Tabor) White were Benjamin, Philip, William, Vincent, Aaron, John, and Susan.

Benjamin White (5), eldest son of Peter White (4), was born December 20, 1749, married Amah Ball, March 16, 1775. Died December 23, 1842, His wife, Amah, died April 21, 1816.

The Rev. William White Hance, who is a descendant of Samuel (2), and has expended much time and care in searching out and tracing the pedigree of the White family, recently forwarded to Walter W. White, of St. John, copies of several papers found, to quote Mr. Hance's words, "among a lot of rubbish that came pretty near finding its place in the dust heap or furnace." Among the documents so rescued is an indenture of apprenticeship signed by John Craddock, Benjamin White and Peter White, and bearing date the 18th March, 1766, in which it is witnessed that Benjamin White, son of Peter and Huldah White, of the township of Shrewsbury, with the consent of his father and mother, doth put himself an apprentice to John Craddock, "to learn ye artt and mistery of ye trade he now followeth, that is, that of cordwainer or shoemaker and tanner, and with him to serve from ye date hereof of the full term of three years and ten months."

There was also found and copied by Rev. Mr. Hance a letter to Benjamin White, dated St. Johns, Parr Town, September 15, 1784, and signed "your loving brother, William White." In this letter he speaks of liking "the place amazingly well." and of having a son, Philip, named after his own brother.

Mr. Hance also found a fragment of a letter which apparently was written to Benjamin by his sister Susan, as it contains the following: "My kind love to Amy and all the children," and is signed "your loving sister till death, Sukey White."

Also, there is a letter which would seem to have been written to Benjamin by his mother, Huldah, although the letter is in a fragmentary condition, and without address or date. It reads: "July ye 14, 1791. Dear son,—I rite, having this opportunity to let you know that I am in as good health as can be expected for so old a woman as I am. I had a hard spell of sickness last spring, but I lived thru it, and thank God for His merciful goodness."

There was also found a letter addressed to Benjamin White, Dartmouth, near Long Plain, and dated July ye 15, 1791, signed "your loving brother till death, John White," in which John speaks of having recently returned from travelling eleven hundred miles among the "nine nations Indians," where, he states, "they kill people and eat them," and in which letter he expresses his intention to visit his brother Benjamin "in a year or two if nothing happens."

There is one other letter found by Mr. Hance, and which he is inclined to believe was written to Benjamin White, son of Peter (4), by his brother John, although it bears date twenty-nine years after that of John's letter of July 15, 1791. It is addressed to "Benjamin White, at New Bedford, near the Long Plains, in the State of Massachusetts." It reads: "Long Branch, Shrewsbury, November 17, 1820. Dear Brother,—I have the pleasure to inform you that through boundless mercies I do wish my family and friends in general enjoy good health, and most cheerfully hope these lines may find you in possession of the same. Sister Susan and family is in health, except her son John, and he is on the recovery. My son Benjamin is married and lives with me," etc. John follows something about getting in the spring rails, for which, he says, he would have to charter a vessel, and desires to know positively if Benjamin will be ready for its coming. It is signed "from your brother and friend, John White."

Philip White (5), son of Peter White (4) and Huldah White, was born 1756; married (1) ———, by whom he had a son John, who was born December 8, 1772, and married Susan, daughter of Gilbert Lane; married (2) October 29, 1773, Jane Miers, by whom he had a daughter Susan, born March 6th, 1775.

(Selected from Egerton Ryerson's. D.D. History of the Loyalists of America.)

Captain Richard Lippincott, born in Shrewsbury, New Jersey, January 2nd, 1745. He married Esther Borden, daughter of Jeremiah Borden, of Bordentown, New Jersey. He warmly espoused the side of the Crown, and was early in the war captured and confined in Burlington jail, from which he escaped in 1776, and made his way to the British army at Staten Island. His connection with the execution of Captain Joshua Huddy, of the Rebel service, attracted a great deal of attention both in Europe and America. Captain Huddy was a partisan officer of some repute in New Jersey, and had been concerned in the murder of a Loyalist named Philip White, who was a relative of Lippincott and a resident of Shrewsbury. Shortly after Capt. Huddy was captured and taken as prisoner to New York. The board of Associated Loyalists of New York sent Capt. Lippincott to Middleton Point or Sandy Hook with Capt. Huddy and two other prisoners to exchange for prisoners held by the Rebels. He was authorized to execute Huddy in retaliation for White, who had already been put to death. Therefore, on the 12th of April, 1782, having exchanged the two other prisoners, Capt. Lippincott hung Huddy on a tree by the beach under the Middleton Heights. In 1867 the tree was still to be seen, and tradition keeps alive in the neighborhood the story connected with it. Capt. Lippincott who was evidently only obeying orders, pinned a paper on Huddy's breast, with the following inscription: "We, the Refugees, having long with grief beheld the cruel murders of our brethren, and finding nothing but such measures carrying into execution, we therefore determine not to suffer without taking vengeance for the numerous cruelties, and thus begin, having made use of Capt. Huddy as the first object to present to your view, and further determine to hang man for man while there is a Refugee existing. Up goes Huddy for Philip White."

Washington, hearing of Huddy's death, demanded the surrender of Capt. Lippincott from the Royalists' authorities in order that he might be put to death. This demand was refused, and Washington then ordered the execution of one officer of equal rank, to be chosen by lot from among the prisoners in his hands. The lot fell upon Capt. Asgil, of the guards, who was only nineteen years of age. The British authorities secured a respite, under promise of trying Capt. Lippincott by court martial. After a full inquiry, Lippincott was honourably acquitted. Through the appeals of Lady Asgil, Capt. Asgil's mother, to the French minister, obtained from Washington, after long delay, Capt. Asgil's release, but Asgil and Lippincott were not set at liberty till the close of the war, when Lippincott moved to New Brunswick, to a place called Pennfield, where he lived till 1787, when he went to England and remained to the end of 1788, and in 1793 left New Brunswick and settled in the township of Vaughn, near Toronto. He died at his daughter's, Mrs. Geo. Taylor Denison, in 1826, aged eighty-one years.

When the Rebellion broke out in 1775, Philip (5) and his brother William joined the King's army. Philip was captured by the Rebels, under the command of Henry Huddy, on the 30th of March, 1782, and was by his captors thrown into a pig-pen, bound hand and foot. On his attempting to crawl away from the pigs, he was beaten and hacked until, through loss of blood, he died. Shortly after Huddy was himself captured by the Loyalists and hanged on a tree, the crowd of onlookers shouting "Up goes Huddy for White."* During the war, Philip was in command of the schooner "Hero's Revenge," of which he, and Daniel Sickels, were the principal owners. In the event of the death of Philip, the command of the vessel was to be taken over successively by William, then Aaron, and then Vincent, according to the instructions of Philip's commission, which was dated March 27, 1777. This vessel carried three swivel guns and some musketry, and was bound on a voyage to the island of New Providence. Philip White also held a commission as prize master of the schooner "Wasp," then stationed in the vicinity of New York.

Aaron (5), brother of Peter and William, joined the Whigs when the Revolution broke out, and the writer could find no further record of him.

Vincent, another brother, fought in the war of the Rebellion, and received his discharge in 1783. Copies, or the originals, of the commissions and discharge above mentioned are now held by William V. White, of Carleton County, New Brunswick, and afford conclusive proof of the identity of the persons named therein, as grantees, with the William White Loyalist family. At the close of the war in 1783, Vincent, with other Loyalists, came to St. John, then called Parr Town, and which was then a wilderness of rocks and trees, where the government granted to him Town Lot No. 954, which was forty by one hundred feet in size. He married Susan Carle, of Grand Lake, Queens County, and settled on a farm two miles west of White's Cove, and adjoining White's Point, now called Robertson's Point. Their issue was as follows: William, unmarried; Huldy, married Leonard Bent; Sarah, married William McDonald; Thomas, who married Ann McIntosh; Michael, married a Miss Cole; John, married Eleanor Manzer; and Mary Ann, married Richard Carman.

John, another son of Peter White (4), married some time prior to 1784, Margaret Cook. He died in 1822. His wife died in 1829 or 1830, leaving the following children: John, Benjamin, Deborah and William Vincent.

Susan, one of the daughters of Peter White (4), married Slocum Vandyke, a son of Isaac and Maribe (Slocum) Vandyke, and the marriage is recorded in New Jersey Archives, Vol. 22. The name Vandyke was called Van Dyck up to the death of Rev. Henry Van Dyck in 1744. John and Sarah Vandyke had two sons, Henry and Peter. Henry had the following issue: Henry, Samuel, Vincent, Isaac, Michael and Hannah. Peter Vandyke lived in Portopeck, near Eatontown, New Jersey, and his sons were Elisha and Peter. Elisha married Jennie Hill, and their son, Elisha, resides (1903) in Long Branch, N. J. Peter, unmarried, resides (1903) between Eatontown and Long Branch.

JESSE TABOR.

William and Vincent White, the Loyalists, had a cousin, Jesse Tabor, born in 1754 in Monmouth County, New Jersey, of English parents. His father was Noah Tabor, a brother to the Huldy Tabor who married Peter White, the father of William, and his mother was Meribah Wolcott. When twenty years of age he joined the British army as one of the Jersey volunteers, and two and a half years later married Elizabeth Wood, who was born in England, July 4th, 1763. He got his discharge, and, with other Loyalists, came to St. John, N. B., in the ship "Sally," Capt. Bell, October 27th, 1783. On the 3rd of April, 1784, he, with his wife, moved to Hammond River, in the Parish of Hampton, in Kings County, and in 1798 they moved again thirteen miles further up river, where they lived until his death, in 1844. Mrs. Tabor died in 1857. The sons of Jesse Tabor and Elizabeth (Wood) Tabor were Jesse, George, James Noah and Charles.

WILLIAM WHITE (5).

William White (5) was born October 28, 1759, in Monmouth County, New Jersey. He served in the Royal army all through the Revolution, during which he received a lieutenant's commission. As already stated, he married June 7, 1779, Deborah Tilton, of Middleton, New Jersey, who was born in Shrewsbury in 1752. Her parents were opposed to the match, and the young couple were married in New York, and settled in Garden City, on Long Island. At the close of the war their property was confiscated, and they, with one child, Philip, nine months old (Edward, their first child, having died in New York when two years and six months old), and Vincent White (William's brother) came to St. John, then Parr Town. The government granted to William, Town Lots numbers 570 and 655, each forty by one hundred feet, and situate respectively on the north and south sides of Princess Street. William and Deborah lived in Parr Town three years, where their third child, Peter (6) was born March 22, 1785. They then moved to Kennebecasis, on a farm at the west end of what is known as Grooms' Bridge, about two miles west from Hampton, now railroad station. While living there another child, Samuel (6), was born March 14, 1787. After a residence there of about three years they moved to what has been since called White's Cove, Grand Lake, Queens County, where they encountered great hardships, making a new home under many difficulties. They purchased from James Drummond the west half of a lot or farm in Waterborough, which had been granted to Drummond by the Crown, and paid therefor ten pounds. The deed bears date January 8, 1789, and was recorded in Book B, pages 174 and 175 of Records, the 24th day of July, 1789, at Gagetown, Queens County. In 1792 they purchased from Daniel Morrell the eastern half of the same lot, the deed bearing date November 7, 1792, and being recorded in Book D, pages 205 and 206, January 28, 1800.

The first house they built was made of logs notched together at the corners and chinked with wood and moss, the fire-place being after the Dutch fashion, with little or no jambs, and so constructed that a sled-length stick could be laid on the fire. Probably the fire-place plan was an imitation of those in the homes of the many Dutch settlers in New Jersey. They went to work with a will and determination to make the best of their new home, and soon had a more modern house, where many a traveller found a welcome resting-place.

Mrs. White often laid her babe away in some quiet spot and worked in the field side by side with her husband, doing her housework in the evenings. In the winter, she sometimes travelled across Grand Lake, five miles, on snowshoes, drawing grain loaded on a toboggan, which, after grinding in a hand-mill, she would take back to her home, quite satisfied, although the flour was doubtless not equal to Ogilvie's best. The grist mills of that time were crude affairs, consisting of an upper and a lower stone, each similar to an ordinary grindstone of about thirty inches in diameter. By turning a crank the upper stone was made to revolve, and crush between the "upper and the nether millstone" the grain which was introduced through a hole in the centre of the upper stone. Notwithstanding the fact that Mrs. White came of more prosperous people than her husband, she cheerfully shared the hardships of his life, and proved to be a most devoted wife and mother. She had a large family, and was esteemed and respected by all her neighbours for her unceasing kindness and labours of love. Two bachelor neighbours, named Holdrum, who lived on an adjacent farm, 100 acres, willed her all their property in return for her many acts of kindness in making and mending their clothing, and helping to make their home comfortable.

About the year 1811 they moved with Vincent White (then unmarried) to the Point farm at White's Point, now called Robertson's Point, Grand Lake, Queen's County. Everything they owned was easily carried to their new home in a row-boat, but in a few years they moved from a small log cabin into one of the grandest houses then in the County, connected with which were many outbuildings, including a tenement house for joiner and blacksmith. In 1822 or thereabouts Samuel and his wife Elizabeth moved to Belleisle, Kings County, on the farm afterwards occupied by his brother Vincent, taking with them the two eldest children of Vincent, viz.; Gilbert and Vincent Samuel. Their residence at Belleisle was comparatively short, probably six years, when they returned to White's Point, and occupied the same house from which they had removed, living as tenants in common with Vincent and Mary his wife, until September, 1829, when the brothers dissolved partnership, and Vincent and his family moved to Belleisle. During this time Mrs. Samuel White, or Aunt Betsy, as she was better known, had almost full charge of the children of Vincent, and when Vincent's family moved to Belleisle, the second child, Vincent S., was left with his Uncle Samuel and Aunt Betsy as their adopted son and heir. It would hardly be possible to find a more benevolent woman than Aunt Betsy; all comers received a welcome and her kindest attention; and, although she and her husband had no issue, they adopted and brought up thirteen or more dependent children. Her disposition was to keep alive all the increase of animals and poultry on the farm. She would not unfrequently have about the premises at the same time as many as twenty or more cats, four to six dogs, and one hundred or more hens; and to prevent the place from being overrun with these pets, her husband hired men to destroy them on the sly, or to secretly dispose of them in some other way. Although she and her husband lived a few years in Chipman, they both spent their last days, and died, on the Point farm, and are buried there in the old church lot, which is now quite neglected, as no provision seems to have been made for its care. Samuel died April 8, 1870, and she died January 24, 1875.

Vincent White, fifth and youngest son of William and Deborah (Tilton) White, was born August 18, 1798, at White's Cove, Grand Lake, Queens County, N. B. In 1811 he visited his relatives in New Jersey, the birthplace of his parents. Among these relatives were the Vandykes, related by the marriage of Slocum Vandyke to Susan White, a sister of Vincent's father. Some of his relatives were Quakers, and among them were families of Tiltons, relatives of his mother, Deborah Tilton.

Before returning to New Brunswick he visited New London, Connecticut, and while there purchased from the owners, who were then resident in New London, a farm situate on Grand Lake, in this Province, at what is now called Robertson's Point. This farm comprised 400 acres, and consisted of lots 22 and 23 granted by the Crown to Isaac V. N. Crannell and Robert Crannell. The deed bears date October 19, 1811, and is signed by Isaac V. N. Crannell and wife, James Baxter and wife, and Sarah Crannell.

One acre of this land was conveyed by Vincent by deed, dated January 15, 1821, to the rector and churchwardens, for church and school purposes. Upon this acre a church was built, the rector being the Rev. Abraham Wood, a missionary from Yorkshire, England, who was ordained in 1818 at London, England, and came to New Brunswick in 1819. He continued rector of the church at the Point until 1862, when he retired from active work and removed to St. John, where he lost all his property in the great fire of 1877, and where he died, January 23, 1879. He was a man of large stature, of genial and kindly disposition, and beloved by all who knew him.

Upon Vincent's return to the Province, he and his brother Samuel, with the latter's wife, Elizabeth, took up their residence together upon this farm. They lived at first in a log cabin which they built at the back of the pond, then quite a large body of water, but afterwards artificially drained, so that to-day it is of inconsiderable size.

When Vincent went there to live, the Point, as it was then and still is called, was covered by a magnificent growth of lofty pine trees, towering to a height which rendered them a conspicuous landmark for miles around. It was not long, however, before the brothers cleared this Point and erected upon it one of the largest and finest houses then to be found in the County.

Both brothers were active, enterprising and industrious, and their undertakings prospered and rapidly extended into many different lines of business. They kept public house, a store, blacksmith shop, carpenter shop, and hay scales, and carried on an extensive business in fishing and lumbering, so that, during their joint occupancy, the Point was a thriving and stirring place. At that time there was abundance of gaspereaux in the lake, and catching these fish and shipping them to the West Indies formed a considerable part of the business carried on by the two brothers.

They also carried on a large business at Chipman (then Salmon River) in manufacturing square pine timber. Many pieces of this timber, when ready for shipment, were over forty inches square. This pine timber was all shipped to England, and often in times of depression sold there for less than half its cost in St. John.

There were no tug boats in those days, and the timber was taken to St. John in rafts, propelled by sails when the wind was favourable, and anchored in the lee of some sheltering point in time of storm. In calm weather, and also when the wind was not too strongly adverse, the rafts were propelled down the Grand Lake by "kedging." This was done by sinking some distance ahead of the raft an anchor connected by a long, stout rope with a windlass placed securely upon the timber. As this rope was wound upon the windlass the raft was slowly drawn towards the anchor, which, when reached, was again carried farther in advance and the same operation was repeated. It often required half a dozen men to man the windlass, and as many more to lift and carry forward the anchor, and the work of kedging was a slow and toilsome one.

The brothers Vincent and Samuel took to St. John the first saw logs manufactured there into deals. They sold these logs to R. Hamilton, Son & Co., merchants in St. John, who had them sawn by hand, and shipped to Cork, in 1822, in the schooner "Amelia," Captain Spencer (vide Lawrence's "Footprints," page 90). These deals were sent as samples, with the assurance that, if suitable, large demands for more would soon follow. They did suit, and have continued in yearly increasing demand up to this present year, 1905.

On March 13, 1815, Vincent married Mary Dykeman, eldest daughter of Gilbert Dykeman, who was a resident of Jemseg, Queens County, and a Loyalist. Gilbert Dykeman's wife was Dorcas Manzer, daughter of Barnet Manzer and Mary Lester Manzer, also Loyalists, who for some time owned and occupied four acres in St. John, bounded by what are now Waterloo and Golding Streets.

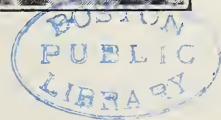

In or about the year 1822 Samuel and Vincent White bought a farm at Springfield, Belleisle, and Samuel and his wife Elizabeth moved to it, taking with them Gilbert and Samuel, the eldest two children of Vincent and Mary, as they had no children of their own.

The writer has no record of exactly how long Samuel and wife continued to reside at Belleisle, but it was not many years till they returned to Grand Lake, and again took up their residence with Vincent and Mary.

In September, 1829, Vincent and wife, in their turn, removed to Belleisle, and upon the same farm previously occupied by Samuel. Vincent built a fine house, with numerous outbuildings, and soon had one of the best cultivated and most productive farms in Kings County, and withal one of the neatest and best kept, for while they believed in the gospel of hard work, both Vincent and his wife had a strong innate love of order and beauty in their surroundings. They were among the most successful farmers of their day, and would allow no drones in the hive. All the family clothing, including boots and shoes, was made on the farm. They maintained their own blacksmith shop, wherein all their horses and oxen were shod, and other iron work required on the farm was made. They had on the farm a tannery, wherein they manufactured all the leather they used, and they made their own harness and saddlery. They always had a large number of employees living and working on the farm, and many of these were from Ireland, whence there came to this Province in those days a considerable number of immigrants. Vincent and Mary had ten children, all of whom were living when their parents had been sixty years married. In that year (1875) there was a gathering of the family in Sussex to celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of Vincent and Mary's marriage. All of their ten children were at that time resident within the Province, and attended this anniversary celebration. Nearly all of the numerous grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren were present. Up to that time there had never been a death of any person in the old homestead in Belleisle. Vincent died there, May 21st, 1884, and is buried in the churchyard at White's Corner. His wife Mary died February 4th, 1890, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Marven, Belleisle, and lies buried beside her husband.

VINCENT S. WHITE

Gilbert White, eldest child of Vincent and Mary (Dykeman) White, was born at Grand Lake, Queens County, March 3, 1816; married (1) Julia Elvira Flewwelling, eldest daughter of Guilford Flewwelling, of Belleisle, Kings County, September 20, 1837; she died April 21, 1854, aged thirty-six; married (2) Eleanor Ann (widow) Gillis, and daughter of Dr. Colter; she died October 22, 1899; he died June 18, 1887.

Gilbert White began business in partnership with his brother Samuel, as storekeepers, farmers and general traders. Their first store was on the farm on Grand Lake, upon which Hon. Lock P. Ferris now (1905) resides. After a few years he and Samuel joined the partnership under which their brothers William H. and James E. were then conducting a general store and trading business at White's Corner, Springfield, and Belleisle Point. Later both Gilbert and Samuel retired from this firm, and continued in business as partners on their own account. For a short time they kept store in Sussex, N. B., having taken Jeremiah Calkin into partnership, but Mr. Calkin shortly left the firm, and the brothers began business in St. John as general merchants, under the firm name of G. & V. S. White. Their business prospered, and the firm of G. & V. S. White became one of the leading business houses in the Province. Gilbert retired shortly before his death, and thereafter Vincent carried on the business under the name V. S. White until his death.

Vincent Samuel White, second son of Vincent and Mary (Dykeman) White, was born at Grand Lake, Queens County, February 22, 1818; married Charlotte Dimmock, April 2, 1862; died October 18, 1892.

He began business as a young man in association with his brother Gilbert (vide Gilbert White, No. supra). When a young man he was for some time engaged in woodboating on the St. John River. He was a shrewd, careful and energetic business man, and whatever he undertook, prospered. He greatly assisted his brother Charles T. in establishing successfully the large lumber manufacturing business conducted by Charles T. White at Apple River, Nova Scotia. He also in like manner materially assisted his nephew, Simeon H. White, in establishing the foundations of the large business now carried on by S. H. White. The business left by him at his death was continued by his son, Walter W. and John E. Moore, under the old name of V. S. White altered to V. S. White & Co., and under the management of Mr. J. E. Moore (who received his business training under Vincent S.) still continues its prosperous existence.

William Henry White, third son of Vincent and Mary (Dykeman) White, was born at Grand Lake, Queens County, August 12, 1820; he married (1) Sarah Miers, February 29, 1844; she died June 21, 1848, aged twenty-three years; no issue; married (2) Eliza Jane Hatfield, March 10, 1852, who died in August, 1886, leaving five children; married (3) Emily M. Mott, September 24, 1889; no issue; he died February 19, 1901.

William H. White began his business career in partnership with his brother James E. They first opened a general store at White's Corner, Springfield, Kings County, and about three years later established a branch store at Belleisle Point. Their brothers Gilbert and Samuel, who had for a few years carried on store-keeping at Grand Lake, closed up their Queens County business, and shortly after William H. and James E. had opened the store at Belleisle Point, came into the business as partners, the firm name being thereupon changed from W. H. & J. E. White to White & Brothers. This partnership, after some four or five years, was dissolved, and thereafter William H. and James E. continued the business together, save for a short time, during which Gilbert and Samuel returned to the firm. About 1851 the brothers William H. and James E. opened a branch store at Sussex, and James E. moved to Sussex to take charge of this business. Later their brother Hiram was taken into the business, and later still their brother Charles T. became a partner. The firm name was changed to White Bros., and a wholesale general store was opened by this firm in St. John, in connection with which the old stores at White's Corner and Sussex were continued as branches, and additional branches were established at Apohaqui and Smith's Creek, Kings County. The firm of White Bros. for years did a large and thriving business. William H. and James E. retired from the firm in the early seventies, William H. going to Sussex to live, while James E. continued to reside in St. John.

James Edward White (the writer of this book), fourth son of Vincent and Mary (Dykeman) White, was born December 11, 1822, at Grand Lake, Queens County, and moved to Belleisle with his parents in 1829, and worked on the farm until, 1844, when he, with his brother William H., opened a store on a small farm one mile from his father's, to what is now known as White's Corner, under the name of W. H. & J. E. White. In 1847 they opened a branch store at Belleisle Point, when two other brothers, Gilbert and V. S., joined them, and the Point store was conducted by James E. White, under the name of White & Brothers. G. and V. S. White soon sold their farm and store at Grand Lake, and V. S. White sailed and managed the several woodboats built by the firm until sold a season or more later. In February 14, 1849, James E. White married Margaret Scott, second daughter of Daniel and Ann (Spragg) Scott. She was born in St. John, N. B., October 8th, 1830, and died September 20th, 1895, at Toronto, while on a travelling excursion to Niagara Falls, and is buried in Fern Hill cemetery, near the Ruel fountain. They had eight children, four sons and four daughters. In 1852 they moved to Sussex, and James E. managed White & Brothers store there for about eight years, when failing health obliged him to move to St. John, where the firm had a small store, which he managed, and G. and V. S. White retired from the firm of White & Brothers, and the business continued on a much larger scale under the name of White Brothers, as general importers and wholesale dealers in all goods usually kept in country stores. Soon after Charles T. White was taken into the business. James E. White made two trips to England: first, to consult a specialist doctor, and while there made purchase of goods for the firm, and also arranged for the needed material for making matches, a business he initiated the manufacture of in this Province at Hampton; and the business, after it had become an assured success, was taken over by Messrs. Flewellings, and in their hands has grown to large proportions.

In religion, he is a member of the Methodist church, and retired from business about thirty years ago.

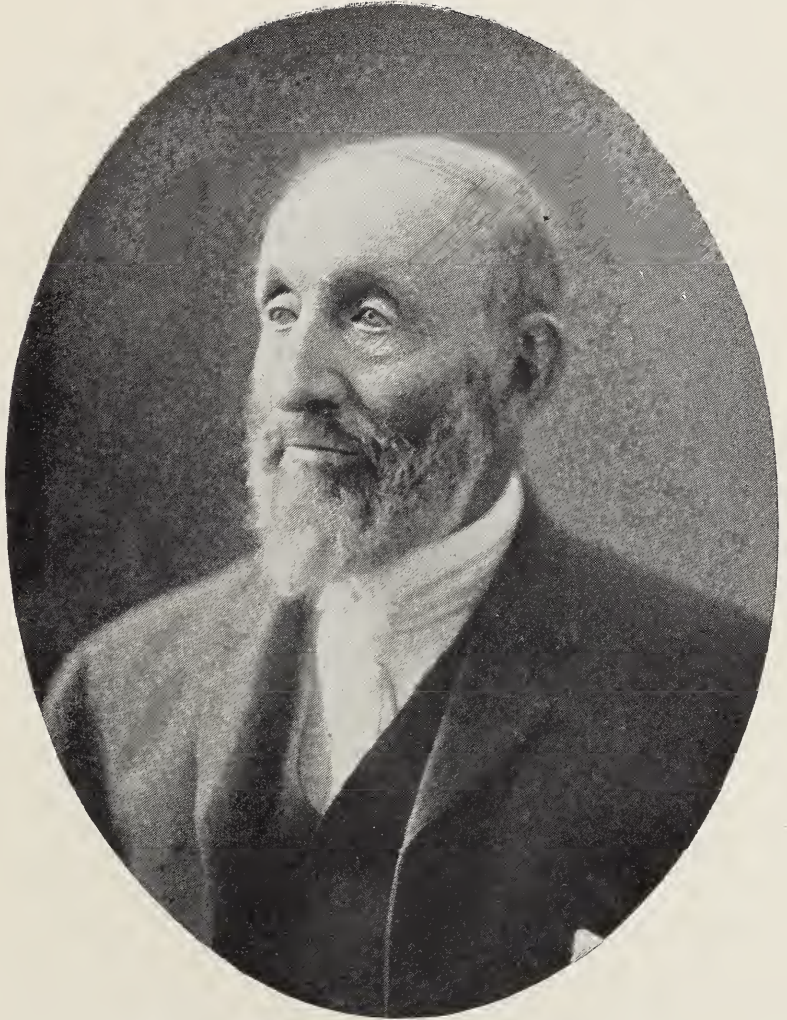

He has travelled quite extensively. In 1876 he went west as far as Los Angeles, stopping off at the different towns of note, including San Francisco, where he visited his cousins, of the firm of White Brothers, successful lumber merchants there, and on his return called at Washington, and spent one week in Philadelphia, at the Centennial Exhibition. He has often travelled in the United States, going northwest beyond St. Paul's and Minneapolis, and has done all the principal towns of Canada as far northwest as Brandon, which was as far as the C. P. R. was then (1882) finished.

He began business as a farmer upon a farm on the south side of the Belleisle Creek, and which was formerly part of the old homestead. Something over forty years ago he went to live in St. John, and became a member of the firm of White Bros. After remaining in St. John between two and three years he went to Sussex and took charge of the firm's store there. While keeping store in Sussex he dabbled in lumbering, and for a few years operated a saw mill at the Portage, Kings County, in company with James Mills. About twenty-five years ago he bought from Benjamin Young the Apple River lumber property, in Nova Scotia. His brother, Samuel Vincent, assisted him as financial backer in the purchase and earlier development of this property, which under Charles' management and ownership is now one of the largest and best paying lumber industries on the Bay of Fundy. About ten years ago Charles T. White bought from George J. Vaughan the Point Wolfe lumber property, on the New Brunswick shore of the bay, nearly opposite Apple River. This property he still owns and operates with success. He has a residence in Sussex, where he makes his home.

Albert Scott White, son of James E. White and Margaret (Scott) White, was born in Sussex, 12th April, 1855. His father removed with his family to St. John in 1857. After attending the Varley school in that city from his tenth until his fourteenth year, he went to Sackville Academy in 1869, and graduated in arts at Mount Allison College, May, 1873. Shortly after graduating, he managed for a year the business of the St. John Rope-walk, but, during this year, employed his spare time in the study of law. In 1876 he entered Harvard law school as a senior, and there took LL. B. degree in 1877. He at once began to practice law in Sussex, and has ever since continued to reside and practice his profession at that place.

In 1886 he was elected to the legislature as one of the representatives of Kings County, and was returned as representative for that county in six successive elections—twice by acclamation.

In 1889 he was unanimously elected speaker of the legislature, and three years later became solicitor-general in the Blair administration. This office he continued to hold throughout the remainder of the Blair administration, and all of the Mitchell administration, becoming attorney-general upon Mr. Emmerson's assuming the premiership. He resigned his seat to contest, in the Liberal interest, the united Counties of Queens and Sunbury in the Dominion election of 1900, but was defeated. In 1900 he was appointed chairman of the commission to revise and consolidate the New Brunswick public statutes. He also drafted for the Dominion Government the Railway Act, 1903, which provides for the establishment of the present Board of Railway Commissioners, and revises and consolidates the existing railway law of Canada. SIMEON H. WHITE, Junior.

Simeon H. White's father, Charles T., moved, with his family, to St. John, remaining there two years. He then moved to Sussex, where Simeon H. has continued to reside up to the present time. Received his education at the common school, Sussex. Went to work in the store of G. H. White at the age of sixteen, remaining with him as employe about one and one-half years. Was then with his father, as clerk, for about three years. He then went into business with G. H. White as partner, the firm's name being G. H. White & Co., which partnership existed for about two and one-half years. Started business on his own account one year after dissolving partnership with G. H. White, continuing business for himself for about five years. Then took into partnership with him A. L. Price and W. J. Mills. After three years, bought out A. L. Price's interest, the firm's name always being S. H. White & Co. This firm continued until some five years ago, when an amalgamation took place of the firms of G. H. White & Co., Huestis & Mills, and S. H. White & Co., under the corporate name of The Sussex Mercantile Co., Ltd., with Simeon H. White as president.

In the past ten years he has established the following businesses, which are all at the present time (1905) in a flourishing condition, viz.:

The Maritime Dairy Co., having about twenty different butter and cheese factories.

Of all of these companies Simeon H. White is president, and in most cases general manager. He is financially interested in numerous other business enterprises, and, in a word, is one of the most active and successful business men in the Province.

APPENDICES.

Geneological Record of Family of Whites, by John Bartlett White, of East Killingly, Connecticut.

William White, who came over in the "Mayflower," must be the ancestor of nearly all the Whites of America? He had three sons, not counting Peregrine. The name William 6th in order subscribed to the Compact; Gideon White, descendant of Daniel White, son of Peregrine, removed to Shelburne, Nova Scotia, during Revolution of 1776, leaving numerous descendants.

Ancestral Chronological Record of William White Family from 1607-8 to 1895, pages 299, 300. Hannah, daughter of William, married December 27th, 1730, William son of Philip Tabor.

Town records of Mendon, Asa, son of Thomas and Deborah White; born August 11th, 1735. Aaron, son of Joseph and Prudence White, born May 22nd, 1717. William, son of William and Hulda White, born August 22nd, 1729. Boston Historical Library.

Just as this book was ready for binding, I received from Rev. Wm. Hance a letter, in which he states that he feels confident as the result of some late discoveries he has made, that Peter White (2) was not the son of Thomas White, as stated in the text of this book, on page one, but was Thomas White's brother. According to Mr. Hance the line runs as follows:

Thomas of the first generation: Administration granted to his son Samuel, February 4, 1684-5; had 3 sons;—Samuel, who married Elizabeth Wardell, and left a son Joel, as appears from his Will proved July 5, 1698; Thomas, who administered on his brother Samuel's estate, and whose own Will, dated Nov. 9, 1712, was proved December 4, 1712; and Amos, who married, in 1708, Hannah Mills, and died 1729-30.

Peter White, brother to the above Thomas of the first generation, died 1697-8. He married Mary Worthley, and was father of Peter White (3).

As Mr. Hance has devoted much pains-taking and enthusiastic work to search out the pedigree of the White family, his conclusions are entitled to very great weight, and, had his letter reached me earlier, I would have tried to verify them by further search of such records as are available.

SUPPLEMENTARY.

After a large portion of the first edition of this Book had been distributed, I received from various sources information calling for certain corrections in and additions to the text. These will be found in the following list of corrections and additions, which list also includes those corrections shown in the earlier issues of the Book, under the title "ERRATA."
